

TEENAGERS ASSUME VILLAGE POST

LAWRENCE KOHL GIVEN PLAQUE
AT MOKENA GRADUATION PROGRAM

Mokena Comments

The annual Mokena Memorial Day services this year, sponsored by the VFW and the Amvets, had as participants in the commemoration the many wonderful youth groups of Mokena as well as other organizations. The Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorer troop all went to make the occasion one which stirred a feeling of gratitude in the hearts of the audience, for the freedom and opportunity available to America's children. The Explorer troop in particular is to be commended for the fine job they did in preparing the Pioneer cemetery for the day's service.

It was regrettable, then, with our youth so willing to participate in time-honored events, and so wholeheartedly enthusiastic, that a few things had to go wrong at a time when all should have been right.

Despite the natural excitement of youth at a time like this it was not the children but the members of the adult organizations who drew away some of the enthusiasm of the crowd. The banging of doors, conversations outside open windows, and the occasional bumping of the drum caused difficulty in hearing the words of the speaker, who had prepared a fine speech. That is hard to impress our youth with the proper way of doing things for the sake of a better America, and always better Mokena.

The program itself however, was, as usual, a fine representation of the depth of Mokena's appreciation for American heritage, and showed those comrades left to pay homage to fallen buddies felt such respect. We feel sure the outstanding show of thoughtlessness was the attention, which once called to their attention, will not be apparent in other commemorating services.

After all it is the youth of America on whom we must depend, and as the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined applies to every Mokena boy and girl. We cannot encourage them too much in learning that American heroes fell in battle to preserve brotherhood, and good grace cannot be tossed aside, for whatever reason, without some of that brotherhood, bought at such a high price, falling by the way.

We do want to thank Commander Ervin Friant for his splendid efforts and especially the post's very fine drum and bugle corp, and those children who sang so splendidly, and Rev. Wm. Riemann, speaker, whose fine talk included the following highlights:

"If a man of Mars should be here today, where would you take him to show him the significance of our Memorial Day—to a picnic? To a lake? Speedway? Highway traffic jam? No, not any of those places. None of them are typical of Decoration Day. In the now forgotten song, 'Tenting Tonight' you will find almost hidden now, the words 'looking for the dawn of peace'. That's what we are doing now... looking for the dawn of peace. For, while most wars are waged to stop aggression, actually we are always looking for the dawn of peace."

The world has been in pretty much of a mess since 1914. Wars have been won but the world hasn't attained the objective... the dawn of peace, and even now we feel the hot breath of world conquest and war blowing down our necks. In each war something of our personal freedom has been taken away. War has a function to perform, some what like police to protect the people, but police do not build a community. The people build a community; the police can only protect it. War too cannot build peace or a cooperative world. We are not chattel, we are sons of God, and the victories do not always go to the countries with the heaviest military armaments.

We have a duty, an obligation which we must perform, such as: We must go to the polls every election day and vote as we want, to preserve our communities. For only in that way can we continue to build and look for the dawn of peace. Most of all, peace must be in all hearts, for that alone will bring peace in the world."

its suitability for septic tanks. These tanks require soil capable of absorbing excess moisture not handled by the tank. Under the new ordinance—passed under authority given the county by a recent state law—subdivision developers are required to submit reports of soil percolation tests to the health department. These tests must be made by registered engineers.

Dr. Hall explained that the health department requires that the tests attempt to simulate operating conditions. This county board has authority under the new state statute to require subdividers to post bond as assurance that the supply and sewage systems projected on the plat submitted to the map department will be installed. A resolution requiring such a bond is now being drawn by a county board subcommittee for presentation to the board.

NELSON TWINS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As Wesley and Warren Nelson twin brothers, 19, were returning home about 1:15 Tuesday morning, they figured in an auto accident.

They were going east on route 30 and just west of the former Cleveland farm, according to the report from the state police, as made by Wesley who was driving his car, he slipped on the wet pavement, lost control of the car, crossed the road and struck a culvert.

This culvert is located in a small dip between the Owen and Cleveland farm. When the car hit the culvert it completely sheared off a bridge abutment which is about 18 inches thick, and carried it with the car to the opposite side of the road. The car burst into flames from the impact. The Frankfort fire department was called which extinguished the flames. The car was towed to a garage in Joliet where it is a complete wreck.

It was a 1949 Ford. Passing motorists dragged the youths from the car.

State Officer William Hamilton arrived at the scene and had the boys removed to Silver Cross hospital by ambulances where it was found Wesley has a fracture of his right leg, between the hip and knee and Warren has a fractured left ankle. Both also have cuts and bruises. They are the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Nelson, 195th and Wolf road, Mokena.

High Organic Matter Supply Helps Soils Soak Up More Water

CROPS will have more water to help build higher yields, if your soil has a regular turnover of active organic matter.

Dr. W. P. Martin, Ohio State University agronomist, points out that rotting organic matter improves the soil structure and makes it more porous. Water percolates in more easily. Rains are soaked up and held by the soil, instead of running off, or ponding on top.

In this soil building process, millions of tiny, invisible microbes play an important part. As they feed on organic matter and break it down, they produce a gummy, jelly-like substance. This sticky material glues tiny soil particles together into clusters or aggregates. These aggregates, in turn, increase the size of the soil pores and allow more water to enter. As organic matter rots, it releases crop-feeding nutrients. More soil phosphate is made available to growing plants. It helps increase the efficiency of the fertilizer you add to the soil.

Soil organisms need extra nutrients when corn stalks are plowed under.

The soil organisms need nutrients to do their soil building job. Thus the fertilizer you add, has to feed the soil organisms as well as the crop. That's particularly true where corn stalks or straw are plowed under. To break these raw materials down into humus, the organisms need extra nitrogen. If the supply is deficient, crops will suffer.

The Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out that plowed-under deep rooted legumes and other crop residues are good sources of organic matter. When these legumes are well fertilized, their roots add important nutrients to the soil. Moreover, fertilizer helps grow more crops per acre. That, in turn, provides more raw material for making organic matter to help build your soil.

Publisher Reports:
No Increased Tax,
More Roads by Gov.

By Helen LaMonte
First hand information from Springfield was brought back by editor-publisher Mrs. Margaret Semmler, last Friday when she and her daughter Adeline attended the Illinois Press Association convention in the Abe Lincoln hotel and heard Governor

Wm. Stratton renew a pledge to the people of Illinois and also heard a promise of better roads and more school assistance.

The Governor stated that some 150 miles of road is being readied for use from Pontiac southward. The conversion of Route 66 into a four lane highway over that expanse would be opened before fall. This will mean that Illinois, at long last, will probably have more miles of highways than any other state in the country before long. The statement met with instant approval from the listening audience, Mrs. Semmler reports.

More adequate support for the elementary schools is a matter under deep consideration, and seemed to receive favorable thought from the young executive. This point is one well taken with so many of Illinois' schools in bad financial plight due to expanded building, particularly in suburban and rural areas, and the fact that taxes are always at least two years in arrears of the receipt of the completion of building. Most rural and suburban homes house school age children, for whom insufficient tax monies are available for that period of time mentioned. Equalization seems to be the only answer. Civic groups have long advocated a rate of 1.90 per pupil for equalization. Even this rate is low compared to requirements. The promise of no increase in taxes by the Governor was another readily accepted proposal.

Mrs. Semmler said that the state executive particularly stressed the importance of the forthcoming "blue ballot", a non partisan ballot which will be voted in the fall election and which will decide the fate of the long awaited reapportionment to give equal representation to all citizens of Illinois.

The banquet was the climax of the annual Spring Convention of the Press association.

Blue Island Lions To Have Parade and Fireworks July 5

The Blue Island Lions Club Independence Day committee is busy rounding out final program details for that suburb's eighth annual celebration which this year will be held Monday, July 5.

An innovation will be the display on the parade route and beyond of 252 American flags, 3 by 5 foot, two from each one of the 126 aluminum light poles in the business area on Western Avenue for a 2 1/4 mile stretch.

Lloyd C. Holmlin, general chairman, states that more musical units will be in the senior parade than previously as well as many special features in that and the junior parade which precedes it.

An hour and a half exhibition of fireworks at the High School Stadium will climax this program which has been an ever popular drawing card to southsiders for many years.

Set Wheat Quota Penalty at $112

The marketing quota penalty for "excess" wheat of the 1954 crop is $112 a bushel, Carl M. Borrett, chairman of Cook county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced today.

The rate is uniform throughout the country and, as directed under law, represents 45 percent of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1954.

Farmers who do not comply with their wheat acreage allotments are subject to marketing quota penalty provisions on their "excess" wheat except that there is no "excess" wheat on any farm with a wheat acreage of 15 or less. Their wheat crop also is ineligible for Government price supports if the wheat acreage is in excess of the wheat allotment acreage.

The first buyer of the wheat becomes liable for the penalty if the farmer at the time of marketing is not able to present a wheat marketing card or wheat marketing certificate as evidence that his crop is penalty free. In such a case the buyer should collect the penalty and transmit it within 15 days to the treasurer of the County ASC Committee for the county in which the wheat was produced, the chairman explained.

IN MEMORIAM

JUNKER, William C.—We do not forget him, we love him too dearly for his memory to fade from our lives like a dream. Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely, for grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
Children and Grandchildren of the late William C. Junker

The WSCS of the Orland Park Methodist church met May 27 in the home of Mrs. B. J. Rooth on Will-Cook road for an all day session. After the luncheon period, Mrs. Thomas Cooper conducted the devotion. At the business session, Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. Richard Farr and Mrs. Lester Sayers were elected on the nominating committee. Mrs. Stewart Loebe reported that she had delivered 123 pounds of clothing, which the members had contributed for Korea, to the Burbank Manner Community church in Oak Lawn where clothing was picked up to be shipped to Korea. This project was sponsored by the Greater Chicago Church Federation. The June meeting, as in former years will be a potluck picnic place will be announced later. Laurel Camp 1796 RNA held Memorial services for the deceased members, at their meeting Thursday evening, May 27 in the home of Mrs. Marie Heiting. RNA flags were placed on their graves. After the business a social period followed with a few rounds of bunco. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Heiting, Harriet Ludwig and Bernice Reish.

Will Cooper and daughters Amy and Alice of Brook, Ind., visited his brother Edgar Cooper in Orland last Wednesday.

Mrs. A. Lach is home from Ingalls Memorial hospital where she had a cyst removed from between her eyes. She is feeling fine.

The WSCS Evening circle of the Orland Park Methodist church will meet in the church parlors, Tuesday evening, June 8 at 8 o'clock. Election of officers which was postponed last month will be held at this meeting. All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

DeKalb Crop and Weather Report

Corn planting moved ahead rapidly in the third week in May in most corn belt areas and was 90% completed by May 20. The only state lagging was Ohio, but planting was rapidly nearing completion there by the weekend. The two greatest corn belt states — Iowa and Illinois were first to finish as favorable weather allowed field work almost every day since May 5. The trend of the weather in much of that area was indicated by reports from Humboldt in north central Iowa where 14 of 16 days between May 5 and 21 were reported as "clear" by the DeKalb Seed Corn weather observer located there.

The low temperatures prevalent in May continued during the past week with several stations reporting temperatures in the 30's, Redwood Falls and Jackson in Minnesota, Monmouth and Waterman, Ill., and Johnstown, Ohio, all reported such lows. Lowest was at Waterman with 32 degrees on May 20. Monmouth reported moderate frost on the same morning. Morning soil temperatures were reported at a low of 53 degrees by the DeKalb weather stations on May 20. This is several degrees below the 60 degrees necessary for quick germination of corn, so the seed in corn belt soils at present is starting slowly. After widespread heavy precipitation around May 1st, only light scattered rainfall has been reported since in nearly all corn belt states. With an average normal May rainfall of 3.4 inches in the eight states covered by this report, only 1.7 inches or exactly half had fallen by May 22nd. This means that the moisture supply is still the critical factor for the infant corn crop. Moisture deficiency has again increased to 3 to 4 inches in the period since last September 1st.

When a farmer buys commercially mixed feed, about 70 cents out of every dollar goes to pay the actual cost of the ingredients. About ten cents goes for manufacturing and 20 cents for distribution. You will raise healthier and more productive chickens if you include your chicken house in your fly control program.

Bert Fulton School

News

Carried from last week

There is vacation spirit in the air at Bert Fulton. All minds are filled with thoughts about summer. Each room is planning some special activity to bring the school year to a close.

The long awaited day for the first graders finally arrived last Friday. The three first graders, their teachers and some mothers enjoyed a trip to Brookfield Zoo. The children seemed to be filled with all kinds of energy and enthusiasm at 9 o'clock when they boarded the buses, but there were 90 tired little children, thankful to be home at 2 o'clock. There will be much discussion about the trip and wonderful sights in the remaining weeks of school.

Room 100, third graders are planning a trip to the Chicago Museum of Natural Science, on Tuesday June 1. Room 105 have already been there on May 11.

Rooms 101, 104, and 102 are planning picnics.

Room 102 have just finished a spelling contest. There were five outstanding winners who were awarded prizes.

All the children are thrilled with the new play ground equipment that has been installed this week. They know they will enjoy it during the few weeks remaining in this year and the years to come.

Use the wettable powder forms of lindane, chlordane, methoxychlor or DDT as live-stock insecticides.

Home Bureau Tulip Festival Tour

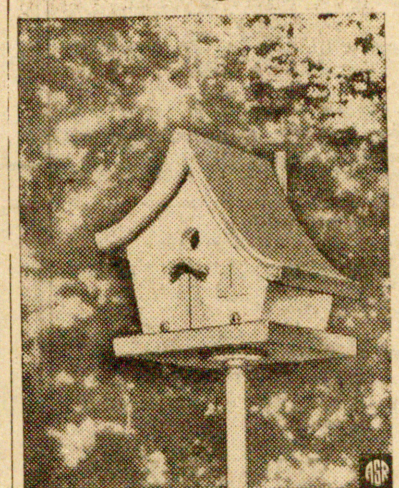

There were 72 Will County Home Bureau women who traveled by two chartered buses to attend the Tulip Time Festival in Holland, Mich., leaving Joliet early Friday, May 14 and returning late the following day.

Perfect weather afforded the group an opportunity to view the brilliant display of blooms as the tulip farms and the flower show in Holland. They witnessed the traditional street dance and street scrubbing ceremony as well as other evening entertainment and the band review on Saturday.

The group stayed over night at the Macatawa Hotel near Holland, and had special reservations for dinner there Friday evening.

Mrs. Ray Cann of Peotone was chairman of the tour and was assisted by Mrs. C. E. Deutschmann of Elwood, Mrs. Ray Walsh of Frankfort, and Mrs. Clarence Luther of New Lenox.

Lawn Brightener

Spruce up your lawn or garden plot with one of these handsome, easily-made bird houses. A fine summer home for the friendly Wren, it stands about eight inches high. Even children can make the attractive house by following the instructions in the pattern being offered now in a special offer by Grape-Nuts cereal. In addition to the bird house, there are nine other patterns available, including a sewing chest, mail rack, telephone shelf, spice cabinet, gun rack, shadow box, and window cornice box. Any one of these patterns can be obtained by sending ten cents and a Grape-Nuts box top to Post Cereals, Box 66, Elmhurst, Ill. Complete offer, which runs through Dec. 31, 1955, is outlined on boxes of the popular breakfast cereal being sold now.

Fertilizer Better "Buy" Today Than Before World War II

Pork's purchasing power has more than doubled in 15 years.

FERTILIZER is a much better buy today than it was 15 years ago, in terms of the purchasing power of major farm commodities, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Analysis of the prices received by farmers and prices paid by farmers for fertilizer show that bushel for bushel and pound for pound, farm products today will buy anywhere from one and one-half to two times more fertilizer than they did in 1939-41.

"At today's prices," says the committee, "1,000 pounds of pork would buy 4.9 tons of 3-12-12 fertilizer, compared with only 1.9 tons back in 1939-41."

"Even with recent price declines, milk's purchasing power has gone up nearly 60 per cent in terms of fertilizer, compared with 15 years ago."

"One hundred bushels of wheat would buy 3.8 tons of 3-12-12 today as against 2.15 tons before World War II. The same quantity of corn today would get you 2.79 tons of fertilizer, whereas it would have bought 1.8 tons back in 1939-41. Oats would buy about 1 1/2 tons of fertilizer now, compared to less than a ton 15 years ago; barley, 2.32 tons as against 1.22 tons.

"With soybeans, 100 bushels would pay for 5.05 tons of fertilizer now, compared with 3.04 tons before Pearl Harbor.

"One thousand pounds of beef would buy 3.24 tons of fertilizer today, but only 2.18 tons back in 1939-41. That's a bonus of about one ton of fertilizer. Lamb would buy 3.82 tons, compared to 2.36.

"You'd get about a ton of 3-12-12 fertilizer from the sale of 100 dozen eggs today, whereas those eggs would have bought 0.55 tons in 1939-41."

Emergency Pastures Keep Summer Milk Output High

Cow-filling pastures yield more pounds of milk per acre.

FEED insurance to keep milk production high when summer drought burns out bluegrass growth, can be provided by well fertilized emergency pastures such as Sudan grass or oats and rape, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

If these emergency and supplemental pastures are to pay off in fatter milk checks, then you need to get high yields per acre. And for those high yields you need to have high soil fertility.

High yielding emergency pasture can save you money by eliminating the cost of feeding more grain. It can cut down production expenses and help increase your net returns.

Whether you plant Sudan or oats and rape, the crop needs not only a balance of fertility, but ample amounts of fertilizer as well. Providing both will help you get cow-filling high yields. Agronomists at Midwestern agricultural colleges recommend adding a fertilizer containing well-balanced amounts of nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

Seedings can be made up to the middle of June.

The agronomists point out that Sudan grass is particularly drought-resistant. It thrives in the hottest weather when the plants have plenty of nutrients to feed on. The seed can be broadcast or drilled in at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds per acre.

The agronomists advise keeping the stock off Sudan pasture until growth is 15 or more inches high and has taken on a dark green color. That is a precaution against prussic acid poisoning.

It is reported that on average soils Sudan grass will carry two fullgrown cows per acre for two or three months. The crop lends itself well to rotational grazing.

Surplus pasture can be put in to the silo for reserve feed when shortages of roughage occur, the committee says.

Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Assoc. Election Dinner Tues.

Tuesday, June 8, 1954, the Southwest Suburban Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Association will hold an election dinner at Alvera's Restaurant, Chicago Heights, at 7:30 p.m. Highlighting the evening will be the election of next year's officers.

The Zetas worked on numerous projects during the past year such as making blankets for Cook County hospital, donating jelly and jam to Oak Forest Sanitarium, et cetera.

Give Summer Seeded Legumes Full Feed of Balanced Nutrients

SUMMER seeded legumes or legume-grass mixtures will get the jump on weeds and establish thick growth quickly, if the crop is well fed with plenty of fertilizer, according to the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The committee reports that alfalfa, clovers and all types of legume-grass mixtures are well suited to summer seeding, when the growing season is sufficiently long.

A good method to promote well established, high yielding stands is to combine band seeding with the addition of ample amounts of fertilizer to build the soil's overall fertility reserves.

In band seeding, the legume and grass seed is dropped behind the drill so that practically all the seed is about an inch above a band of fertilizer placed about 1 1/2 inches in the ground. By this method the small plants get off to a quick start and have the benefit of a full feed of nutrients while their roots are still tiny—the critical time in the life of the seedling.

Reinforcing band seeding with heavy applications of phosphate-potash fertilizer will insure a season-long supply of nutrients when the rapidly growing roots push down deeper into the soil.

Agronomists report that seedlings can be made up to early August.

Northern Corn Belt areas usually get better returns from spring seeding of legumes and legume-grasses.

Tinley Lions Club Sponsors Mobile X-ray Unit June 15

All Tinley Park residents, 15 years of age and over, will have a chance to check on their health through a free chest x-ray on June 18 when a mobile x-ray unit visits the community in search for "unknown" cases of tuberculosis.

In the 1953 Tinley Park survey, 312 x-rays were taken, of which six revealed suspicious signs of TB. During the same year, one person was hospitalized at a cost of $3,493, the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium reported.

The survey is conducted jointly by the Tuberculosis Institute (the Christmas Seal organization) and the SCCTSD, and sponsored by the Tinley Park Lions Club. Walter Fierke, program chairman, is heading the project and will recruit volunteers to help man the unit.

"Although the primary purpose of the program is to find TB in apparently healthy persons," said Dr. Edward A. Pisczek, executive director of the SCCTSD, "it is stressed that the free chest x-rays also serve as a general health check, for they are able to reveal lung cancer, heart disorders and other chest conditions. X-rays are our best tool in uncovering chest conditions in their early stages, when treatment and recovery are easier and faster."

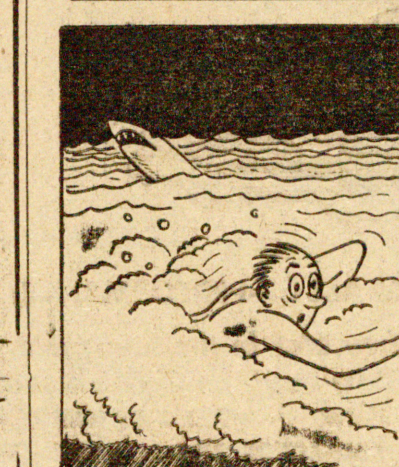

X-raying takes only a minute and is done through the outer

GOP State Group To Meet June 12

The Illinois Republican State convention will be held in the State Armory in Springfield, Saturday, June 12 at 1 o'clock, DST.

Morton H. Hollingsworth of Joliet, who was reelected chairman of the Republican State Central committee, has appointed committees in charge of the arrangements. He also announced that Mrs. Audrey R. Peak, State Central committeewoman from the 20th Congressional district, Winchester, Ill., has been appointed chairman of the Women's Division of the Illinois Republican State Central committee.

The State convention will select a ticket of University of Illinois trustees for the November election ballot.

Delegates will also adopt a platform for the state ticket.

A University of Illinois dairy scientist says only high producing cows will need a grain supplement when grazing on good-quality forage.

Driving on today's overcrowded streets requires your full time and attention.

TAX FACTS

By George L. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Nine persons employed in Illinois in private industry, business agriculture or in other private endeavors, in addition to supporting their own families, are supporting a tenth person and his family on a government pay roll. Or to put it differently, one out of every ten persons working in Illinois is employed by a government, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois stated today after examining information reported by the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

The largest government employer in Illinois is Uncle Sam with 105,567 civilian employees out of the total of 346,770 government workers; no information was available as to the number of members of the armed forces stationed in Illinois which would swell the number of persons on federal payrolls to an even greater total.

School districts were the next largest employers, with 81,744 employees. Cities were third with 58,104, state government fourth with 42,982 and special districts employed 29,823, counties 20,999 and townships 7,546. All of these figures are for the month of October, 1953.

The payroll of the 241,203 state and local government employees was over $70 million in October, 1953, the Taxpayers' Federation reported. The salaries and wages paid by school districts amounted to $27.0 million; cities, $15.4 million; state government, $11.4 million; special districts, $10 million; counties, $5.6 million and townships $700 thousand. Comparable federal payroll figures for the month are unavailable.

Because of the vastness of the operations and costs of the federal government, taxpayers frequently lose sight of their state and local governments. Such oversight is a mistake, the Taxpayers' Federation believes, and supports this with the statement that although the federal government was the largest single government employer in Illinois, the total of all State and local employees was two and a quarter times greater than those employed by the federal government. This points to the necessity of Illinois taxpayers continually appraising their own governments.
